Book Synopsis

"Just as you would not build a house on sand, you certainly don't want to have your teeth restored on an unsound foundation." Runkle emphasizes how vital healthy teeth are. He introduces new-age dentistry, through which anything is possible. Runkle recognizes its connection to self-esteem and to success. "We all want to look our best. The way we look causes us to feel good about ourselves, and the way we feel is the way we act. The actions we take determine the results we get or our level of success in our lives." Look at teeth in a new way; look at it through his eyes, and you'll know just why you need to take extra good care of them.
